WELCOME

The 1987-88 season is underway and the first semester highlight for the Gulls is the Gull Classic. This is the 12th annual tournament, held each year, prior to final exams. The field has usually consisted of strong Division III teams. This year is no exception. Spring Garden (Philadelphia, PA), Eastern (St. David's, PA), and Ferrum (Ferrum, VA) bring in top Division II I basketball. Both Spring Garden and Ferrum have participated before, in the Classic, while Eastern is making its first visit.

We hope that you will find the tournament entertaining and enjoyable. Each team will be after that championship trophy—only one will be successful. Winners of the past in the men's division are: Mt. St. Mary's, St. Thomas Aquinas, William Patterson, St. Andrews and Catholic once each and Salisbury State six times.

Head Basketball Coach
Salisbury State College

The 1987-88 edition of the Salisbury State College Women's Basketball team would like to welcome everyone to the 12th annual Dual Gull Classic. This is the sixth year that the men's and women's basketball teams have combined their basketball tournaments.

The field in this year's tournament presents four quality Division III teams from Pennsylvania, Virginia and Maryland. Spring Garden College from Philadelphia, PA is a two-time defending champion of the Gull Classic. Marymount University from Arlington, VA, was a third-place finisher in the Gull Classic last year. Eastern College of St. David's, PA, is a first-time participant in the Gull Classic and is a member of the Eastern States Athletic Conference. The host, Salisbury State College, is a two-time winner of the Gull Classic, and has been a runner-up to Spring Garden the last two years. Salisbury State has also made it to the title game in all five years. Trenton State of Trenton, NJ, is the only other team, besides Spring Garden and Salisbury State to win the Gull Classic.
